$23 Billion Income Tax Bill On Way To Senate

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $23 billion bill that would cut income taxes for 68 million couples or individuals is on its way to the Senate with the endorsement of the Finance Committee and the hint of a veto from the Carter administration.

The administration's disenchantment stems from sizeable cuts in capital gains taxes, which would largely benefit those in the higher income brackets.

The bill, which compares with a $16.3 billion version approved by the House last month, cleared the Finance Committee on a 15-2 vote Wednesday night. Senate debate will begin early next week.

The Senate bill would give larger tax cuts to virtually all classes of taxpayers, including corporations, than the House bill.

Differences between the House version and the final Senate bill would have to be worked out by a conference committee.

The Finance Committee bill would result in a $48 income tax cut next year for a typical single person earning $12,500, compared to a $38 cut in the House bill.

A typical family of four at the $12,500 level would get a $125 cut from the Senate bill and $105 from the House; the $20,000 family, $196 from the Senate and $146 from the House; the $25,000 family, $290 from the Senate and $232 from the House.

All of the examples are based on taxpayers who claim personal deductions of 23 percent.

Taxpayers who itemize deductions would find the widely used deduction for state and local gasoline taxes repealed under both versions in the interest of energy conservation.

Sponsors say the Senate bill would offset for most employees the higher Social Security taxes that will go into effect Jan. 1.

Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., who with other Republicans has pressed for larger tax cuts, assailed the bill as "a banquet for the affluent and the poor but ... leftovers to middle-income Americans."

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., who also voted against the measure, said the bill's deep cuts in capital-gains taxes were too much for him. The reductions would benefit about five million people, with most of the money going to those with incomes above $50,000 a year.

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal had cautioned earlier in the day that the capital-gains cut "would be very, very difficult for him (President Carter) to accept." But he stopped short of saying flatly that he would recommend a veto.

Congressional aides say the individual cuts in the committee bill would benefit 68 million couples or individuals while raising taxes for about 1.2 million, most of them single persons or couples with no children.

The bill would cut individual taxes. See TAXES, Page 18, Column 6

Dr. John Quertermous Is Honored By KMA

Dr. John C. Quertermous of Murray was presented the Kentucky Medical Association's Distinguished Service Award on Wednesday at the KMA's annual meeting in Lexington.

Quertermous, a specialist in internal medicine, was honored for years of work with various organizations, including the Tobacco Research Board, the state medical licensure board, the American Medical Association and the President's Council on Aging.

The plaque presented to Dr. Quertermous reads "Kentucky Medical Association Distinguished Service Award to John C. Quertermous M.D. for outstanding and dedicated service to the medical profession and this association." The Murray doctor is a past president of the Kentucky Medical Association and has served in many other services of the association.

Dr. Carl Cooper Jr. of Bedford was sworn in as president of the association for 1978-79. Dr. John P. Stewart, Frankfort, relinquished the gavel to Cooper.

Dr. Joe D. Miller, senior vice president of the AMA, received the KMA Award. Miller, a Smiths Grove native who left Kentucky in 1957, was recognized for his AMA research and organizational efforts in 15 states.

Gov. Julian Carroll, guest of honor at the awards luncheon, said sound business management was the key to financing improved health care and education without increased taxes.

Murray-Calloway County Hospital Blood Bank Joining With Regional Center For Mobile Drive In October

By KATHY HODGE

The Murray-Calloway County Hospital Blood Bank, in cooperation with the West Kentucky Regional Blood Center (WKRBC), will have its first mobile blood drive in Murray and Calloway County on October 9 and 10.

The mobile unit, provided by the Regional Blood Center, will be in the Central Shopping Center parking lot from 2-8 p.m. on Monday, October 9, and from 8:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. on Tuesday, October 10.

The Western Kentucky Regional Blood Center (WKRBC) is a non-profit organization which collects and distributes blood to member hospitals.

Hospitals presently served by the center are Owensboro-Daviess County Hospital and Our Lady of Mercy in Owensboro, Hopkins County Hospital in Madisonville, and Jennie Stuart Hospital in Hopkinsville.

Although MCCH is not joining the regional center as a member, WKRBC is supporting the hospital blood bank by providing mobile donor facilities and labor. With the Regional Center's van and personnel, the hospital Blood Bank will be able to take advantage of larger blood drives than ever before and will be able to depend on the center for additional blood in case of an emergency.

At the conclusion of each mobile visit, the WKRBC will share the blood drawn with the hospital. The amount turned over to the local Blood Bank for processing and immediate use will depend upon how much is needed at that time.

The blood which is not needed immediately by the hospital blood bank will be processed by the regional center and made available to anyone in the

'String Project' Is An Outreach Program Of MSU Department

For the third consecutive year, the Department of Music at Murray State University is making a concentrated effort to stimulate renewed interest in the playing of string instruments through its String Project for students from three to 15 years of age.

Beginning this week, more than 65 youngsters, from Mayfield, Paducah and Paris, Tenn., as well as from the Murray area will be coming to the campus twice a week for individual and group instruction in violin, cello and bass violin.

According to Roger Reichmuth, Music Department chairman, the project has been designed to accomplish two things: to meet an increasing need for fully qualified string teachers where there is a void in both private and public elementary and secondary schools, and to provide practical teaching experience for the university's string instrument majors.

"There are many children in these schools who would like to learn to play a string instrument," Reichmuth said, "but few programs are available to them. Consequently, our student teachers have no place to go for practical experience before they graduate unless we provide it here at the University."

"The string project provides inexpensive string instruction for young students and is an outlet for the development of satisfying musical expression," Reichmuth went on. "At that time it provides unique and valuable teacher training for the university students not available elsewhere in the region."

The three senior student teachers in the project last year were immediately employed, he noted, listing them as: Francie Beard, Paducah, who is now teaching in the Owensboro public schools; Katharine (Kip) Mason, Murray, now teaching in the Urbana, Ill. schools; and Susan Carp, Martin, Tenn., who went to Fredericksburg, Va., in a similar position.

In charge of the project this year is Robert Gillespie, an instructor of viola and violin who joined the Murray faculty this fall after three years of teaching in the Houston, Tex., public schools. A native of Salem, Ore., Gillespie replaces David Nelson, who accepted a teaching position in Montreal, Canada.

Gillespie received his undergraduate degree at Eastern Washington State University, Cheney, and his master's at the University of Texas at Austin. Working with him will be eight students majoring in string instruments:

Lloyd Greenwell, a junior from Brandenburg; Conny Ottway, a junior, and Jennifer Downing, a senior, both from Evansville, Ind.; Karen Barnett, Junior, Chicago.

Rosemary Dowell, senior, Central City; Joyce Feibelman, senior, Ft. Pierce, Fla.; Karen Himmer, Cahokia.

Music Man Orchestra Auditions Set

Murray-Calloway County Community Theatre will hold auditions for orchestra parts in the upcoming production "The Music Man" Thursday.

Set in the public library, the auditions will begin at 7 p.m.

Richard Valentine, theatre director, said today all types of instruments are needed and everyone, whether in school or not, is invited to try out. "Everyone trying out should bring a prepared number. They should also be ready to sight read some music from the show," Valentine said.

"The Music Man" is set for performance in early November.

Parents Asked To Select Advisory Group

Parents of children who attend Murray Middle School and the Murray Elementary Schools will be asked this week to select a remedial reading advisory council for each of the schools.

The Title I project, a federally funded remedial reading program in the Murray-Independent School System, requires that a five-member board be selected by the parents of the children in the schools.

Ballots will be brought home by the children, and parents should complete the ballots and return them to their child's teacher. All parents can help select the board even though their children may not be participating in the program.

The advisory council reviews the school's Title I program and makes suggestions about the annual Title I applications and evaluations. The members are selected for a three-year term. The majority of the membership of the council must be parents of children participating in the program.

Lyon County Port Authority

Former MSU Student's Coal Company To Lease Port

By The Associated Press

EDDYVILLE, Ky. — Kentucky Pioneer Coal Corp. has leased a section of a new port on Lake Barkley for a processing and loading operation to ship West Kentucky coal to points on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers.

Kentucky Pioneer, based in Louisville, will run the operation through a new corporation it has formed — Lyon County Coal Corp.

Martin Twist, a former Murray State University student who is co-owner of Kentucky Pioneer Coal, said the operation has the "capabilities to eventually be moving one million tons of coal through the Lyon riverport."

Kentucky Pioneer signed a lease this week with the Lyon County Port Authority, which expects to have the port operating with 90 days. The lease — for 10 years with provision for five 5-year extensions — is for a 20 acre section of the port to be used for the coal processing and loading operation.

The port is on the eastern shore of Lake Barkley, near the Kentucky State Penitentiary at Eddyville.

The lease signing ceremony left members of the 11½-year-old Lyon County Port Authority ecstatic. "This is a new beginning for them (Pioneer Coal) but it's a climactic moment for us," said port authority chairman Charles Baccus, publisher of the Herald-Ledger newspaper. Baccus has served as port authority chairman for 10 years.

Following the signing of the lease, Twist turned over a check for $37,500, the minimum annual payment the coal company will make for use of the tract.

Baccus and other port authority board members believe that the $37,500 represents only a small portion of the potential the county can realize from the operation.

Kingsley Stratton, executive vice president of the new corporation, said Pioneer Coal "will soon be shipping western Kentucky coal to Europe through this port and on to New Orleans." Stratton declined to name the overseas buyer.

Members of the port board are Baccus and Ray Belt, who represent the city of Eddyville; Herb Schreiner and retired Col. Robert L. Putman, representing Kuttawa; and Dr. Dudley Martin and C. O. Robertson, representing Lyon County.

Carroll Says He's Not Fearful Of Being Implicated In Probe

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Julian Carroll says he has no fear that a reported investigation of former Democratic state party chairman Howard "Sonny" Hunt will implicate him in any way.

"There never has been a more open administration than we have now in Frankfort," the governor said. "I have absolutely no fear of any involvement in an illegal activities."

Hunt, who resigned in July, reportedly is being investigated by the FBI for alleged involvement in influencing state government contracts.

Carroll, during an interview Tuesday, said he had no personal knowledge of any probe of Hunt's activities but assumed that news reports of the investigation are correct.

"I'm not aware of anything that anyone has done for which an indictment could be forthcoming," he said. Even if Hunt or someone else is indicted, the governor added, "that doesn't mean a person is guilty of any crime."

Any guilt has to be decided by a jury at a trial, Carroll said.

He said "I have welcomed all the investigations which have taken place in the past and cooperated fully with every investigative agency. We've turned over, since I've been governor, every piece of information that came to our attention that might suggest that somebody has done something wrong."

The governor noted that a member of his office staff was indicted more than one year ago for alleged misappropriation of state property but "I might add that he was found innocent when tried."

Carroll said indictments against state officials are not uncommon. He said two associates of former Gov. Wendell Ford were indicted for alleged illegal activity and found innocent. He identified them as H.K. Taylor, former

Let's Stay Well Dr. F.J.L. BLASINGAME

The Rubber Band Removal Of Hemorrhoids

Q: Mr. H. V. writes that he has "bleeding piles" and that he is considering surgery. However, a friend with similar trouble had his piles removed by a physician who used rubber bands in the treatment.

Mr. H. V. asks for comments regarding the rubber band method.

A: Piles (hemorrhoids) are common, especially among older persons, and consist of over stretched veins beneath the inner lining of the rectum just above the anus. The thin walls of these veins may break and allow bleeding. It is often painless and may occur more commonly during bowel movements. The vein and adjacent tissue may become inflamed and result in a firm local swelling which is quite painful to touch.

Surgery is the most widely used treatment. The vein is dissected out, clamped, and tied. The vein and some of the adjacent skin beyond the site of tying are cut away. Usually, three or four such hemorrhoids are removed. Healing may be painful for seven to 10 days.

A relatively new operation consists of isolating the hemorrhoid, cleaning it, and injecting some local anesthetic. The hemorrhoid is drawn outward with a clamp, and a snug fitting rubber band is placed about the base of the hemorrhoid. The band is left in place and cuts off the circulation of the hemorrhoid. The tissue beyond the band dies and sloughs off in a few days, usually leaving a minimal amount of scar.

The rubber band method may not require a hospital stay, and the pain is usually less than that following surgery.

It is likely that the rubber band method for removal of most hemorrhoids will become more widely practiced. This method has the advantages usually of less disability following the removal of hemorrhoids. The overall costs are generally lower.

You should discuss your case with your physician and see if it can be handled by the rubber band method. You may want a second consultation with a physician who uses the rubber band method before you have an operation.

MRS. ALICE THOMASON is pictured at the birthday buffet celebration held in her honor on her 70th birthday on Sunday, Sept. 3, at the Colonial House Smorgasbord. Thirty-four persons were present for the occasion including her one son, Robert Jameson, her two daughters, Mrs. Faye Colson and Mrs. Isaac (Charlotte) Dunn, 18 grandchildren with one absent, eight great grandchildren with four absent, and a few close friends.

Counseling Solved Her Serious Problem

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman who had been married 15 years, had two kids and problems with her sex life (no kisses, and sex once every three months for 10 minutes) could have been written by me.

I did what you advised her to do. Got counseling. It was especially embarrassing for me because my husband is a psychologist who does family counseling.

I went to a mental health clinic and the doctor there was considerate and understanding. He ordered complete physical checkups for the whole family. We were then referred to an endocrinologist who examined us further and discovered that both my husband and I had low blood sugar—or hypoglycemia. Worse yet, our child was found to have diabetes!

The doctor told us to go home and throw everything out of the house that had sugar in it. We learned a lot about nutrition, and now we are doing well on whole grains, fresh fruits and vegetables, plenty of protein and very little fat. We feel better, have more energy and couldn't be happier.

ABBY FAN

DEAR FAN: The search for solutions to life's problems should always start with a physical examination. Unfortunately, most people take better care of their automobiles than their bodies.

Let this serve as a reminder to call your physician for a thorough check-up. Teeth, too! And when did you last have your eyes and hearing checked?

DEAR ABBY: I need your advice. My husband and I have had some pretty heated arguments about drop-in company. I do not like to have people drop in on me. I feel that a call ahead of time is not asking too much. My husband feels that I should be all smiles and play the gracious hostess no matter who drops in—or when.

I work full-time and must do my laundry and housecleaning on weekends. When I'm in the middle of my work, hot and sweaty and looking a mess, if friends drop in uninvited, I'm not about to put on a phony smile and pretend I am thrilled to have company. I'm steamed! And I guess it's obvious.

I wouldn't dream of dropping in on my friends, and I think they owe me the same courtesy.

What do you think?

HATES DROP-INS

DEAR HATES: I'm with you.

DEAR ABBY: I am an adult woman living alone. For the last two weeks I've been frightened by obscene phone calls. They're always at night.

At first, when I answered the phone, no one would speak, but I could hear this heavy breathing—then an awful outpouring of filthy language would begin. I hang up as soon as I know it's this party, but he keeps calling back. Lately I've been taking my phone off the hook until morning, but I dislike doing that because I could be missing some important calls.

What is the best way to handle obscene phone calls, Abby?

JOLIET, ILL.

DEAR JOLIET: If the caller says nothing, hang up! If the caller uses foul language—don't listen, cut him off. If the calls persist, notify the police department and the telephone company. And it wouldn't hurt to keep a police whistle by the phone. The next time he calls, use it to blast him into the next county!

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters For All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

What's in a name?

One of the most fun and interesting stops at the supermarket is at the sausage counter. There you find a world of good eating in a fascinating array of shapes and sizes. Especially intriguing are the names of many sausages. The National Live Stock and Meat Board notes that many sausages received their names from the European city where they originated. For example, bologna is names for Bologna, Italy; braunschweiger for Braunschweig, Germany; frankfurters for Frankfurt-am-Main, Germany; salami possibly for Salamis, Greece; thuringer for Thuringia, Germany; wienerwurst for Vienna, Austria.

Let's Leave Well Enough Alone!

As a rule, we usually do not delve into the problems inherent with the apparent lack of gray matter possessed by some of our neighbors in the northern states.

But an Associated Press dispatch Wednesday afternoon has forced us away from that precept for this discourse on the adventures of the Massachusetts attorney general's office which is currently embroiled in a court battle in U. S. District Court in Boston.

The question before the court:

— Is "Sambo" the name of a plucky little child who whipped tigers in nursery rhymes, a nasty caricature of black people, or an innocent combination of the names of two men who founded a national restaurant chain?

The Massachusetts attorney general's office has gone to court to try to force Sambo's, a California-based chain, to call itself something else as it expands into the state. Prosecutors claim unless the name is banned, "racial tensions in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will increase."

Hogwash!

The restaurant chain says the name has nothing to do with the children's story "Little Black Sambo," a tale about a boy in India. Written in 1899 by Helen Bannerman, the story tells of Sambo getting the last laugh on a pack of tigers who stole his clothes. The jealous tigers chased each other around a tree and turned to butter, then Sambo ate them with a stack of pancakes for supper.

The company, which has about 1,000 restaurants in 47 states, says "Sambo" is a combination of the names of Sam Battistone and Newell Bohnett, the men who founded the chain in Santa Barbara, Calif., in 1957.

The attorney general's office says that does not matter.

"The name 'Sambo' is understood by numerous residents of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts as offensive and demeaning to black people," its complaint said. "It is understood as a badge of slavery and as a racial epithet."

Again we say, hogwash!

The last time we ate in a Sambo's restaurant we were in Dothan, Ala. — about as far south in the Heart of Dixie state anyone can go. The clientele as well as the employees of the restaurant, to the best of our memory, were about half-and-half, black and white.

What we can't figure out, in our slow-thinking way, is how, if the name Sambo is destined to 'increase racial tensions' in Massachusetts, were we able to avoid the full-scale warfare that must have been going on all around us as we ate our pancakes in the middle of a Sambo's in the Deep South?

Our points are (and there may be several, some of which we are not even aware):

1. Anyone — whether black, white, red, yellow, or whatever color — who is offended by the name "Sambo's," or the name of any other restaurant, for that matter, can show their displeasure by not eating there.

2. Incidents such as this further strengthen our long-held belief that those of us in the South, both black and white, have made much more progress toward eliminating racial tensions than some of our well-meaning, but misdirected northern neighbors.

3. We are constantly amazed at the items scheduled on the dockets of this nation's court systems while most judges and attorneys we hear are unrelentingly screaming about the overload of cases.

4. If, perchance, the Massachusetts court upholds the state attorney general's claim, will the same hold true in the other 47 states in which Sambo's operates its restaurant chain? If so, who will be forced to foot the enormous costs that will be involved in changing the name — outdoor signs, menus, employee uniforms, etc. — of a company that has operated in our free enterprise system for over 20 years?

We think the Massachusetts attorney general, and attorneys general in the other 49 states of our country, should leave well-enough alone in many instances. Consumer advocacy is healthy for our business system but we certainly don't need a Ralph Naderite on the public payroll in each state running around looking for silly little cases to file.

To Massachusetts we say, "Drop this like a hot potato and get on to something worthwhile like saving your citizens some money on utility bills or developing a way to feed our country's poor with your cranberry crop!"

To the other 49 attorneys general across the U. S., including ours in Kentucky, we say: "Take heed. Get to the business at hand and forget the paltry issues that affect so few in any real way and mean so very little to the multitudes."

Items Of Interest For Different Folks

NEW YORK (AP) — For the liberal arts student, for the homemaker worrying about prices, and for the gloomy of heart who believe the American worker has become a goof-off, these items of interest:

For the liberal arts graduate: Liberal arts students are prized by some business organizations.

True, many companies look for business or related majors, but others esteem the liberal artists for their reasoning and other abilities.

Cargill, Inc., a Minneapolis-based, privately owned, multibillion dollar, worldwide trader of commodities, traditionally hires liberal arts graduates among its management trainees.

"We feel they have a rounded education, are generally able to express themselves, and have an open mind," said W. B. "Barney" Saunders, a group vice president who interviews potential trainees.

For homemakers: The message is less refreshing.

According to Howard Hjort, Agriculture Department chief economist, "a stable farm price situation in 1979 would likely result in food price increases on the order of 4 or 5 percent." Not bad, so far.

At that point Citibank economists began making their own projections. Hjort's prediction, they said, assumes an inflation rate of 6.5 percent to 7.5 percent. "We expect 8 percent or more," they said.

Based on Hjort's statement, they continued, the grocery bill of a typical four-person family next year would rise by about $3.40 a week, if farm prices remain stable.

The calculations get even more foreboding. "Smaller meat and dairy supplies," the economists maintain, "could push that bill up by $6.15 a week." And the message continues to darken.

"These increases, if realized, would be on top of the $6.21 weekly increase already foreseen for 1978 for the typical four-person family who spent $62.10 a week on groceries in 1977," the economists state.

For the worker: And for those who think they no longer are interested in a good day's work for a good day's pay, it isn't so, says Prof. David Cherrington of Brigham Young University.

Cherrington surveyed 3,000 workers nationally and learned from them, he says, that pride in doing a job well is the highest priority of the American worker.

On a scale of one to 100, "pride in craftsmanship" placed 84, outranking "more money or larger pay increase" by two points.

New York Is An Exciting Place To Live For This Murray Girl

Can a sweet little girl from a small town in rural West Kentucky find happiness in big boisterous New York City? Yes, writes Cindy McDaniel Harris.

Cindy is a daughter of Thomas and June McDaniel, 1655 Ryan, here in Murray, and for four years while she was a student at Murray State, she was one of the most personable and efficient student employees we've had in our information and public services office. Cindy is now married to Chappell Harris, a good-looking young North Carolina State graduate. He comes from Dallas, N.C., which is near Charlotte.

They met in 1974 while both were doing religious work in the North Carolina mountains — he is a counselor at Ridgecrest, the big Baptist camp over there; she at the Conference Center just across the highway.

She came across the road one Sunday to teach the Sunday School lesson for a group of 12-year-old boys attending Ridgecrest, and they met. Two years later, after much long-distance correspondence, telephone calling and visiting back and forth, they were married, and moved to Greenville, S. C., after Chappell landed a job with Riegel Textile Corporation, the big clothing firm. Cindy found herself a job as a speech therapist with the Greenville city schools.

Last December, Riegel transferred Chappell to New York City as a sales representative in its Apparel Fabrics Division, and in May, they moved into a one-bedroom apartment in a seven-story apartment complex in Tuckahoe, N. Y., a suburb of New York.

It costs them $350 per month, but this is $150 less than that of the same size apartment in downtown Manhattan. A parking space, costing $20 per month, is assigned to them for their car.

Each weekday at 8:16 a.m., he catches a commuter train for a 30-minute ride into the city, Grand Central Station and his job. Cindy has a secretarial job with a White Plains, N. Y., legal firm, and spends about the same amount of time driving to her job. "I couldn't get a teaching job without a master's degree in speech and hearing," she writes, "so until I can go back to school and get that, I'm relying on my experience there in the office at Murray State."

They're making the most of their life in "The Big Apple," however, and being only 20 minutes from the beach goes regularly. Their greatest enjoyment, she says, comes from going into the city to eat at the famous restaurants and to see the Broadway shows.

Their favorite restaurant is "Appaloosa." Phyllis Diller's favorite New York place. "The waiters and waitresses are semi-professionals and sing after they are through serving," she writes, "waiting perhaps to be discovered — and some should be."

Their most recent Broadway plays have been "The King and I," "The Act" with Liza Minelli, "Grease," "A Chorus Line" and others. A real entertainment highlight recently were their front row seats at the U. S. Open tennis championships in Queens, where the 1964 World's Fair was held.

These have made their hearts beat faster and their eyes bug out, but the one thing that has impressed Cindy more than anything else in New York has been the Statue of Liberty as seen at night from the Staten Island ferry. "I thought I was going to cry, it was so majestic," she wrote.

If they want to get out of the city, it takes only an hour to drive to Bear Mountain State Park. "It's hard to believe that only an hour away from all this concrete and steel there is such a quiet, beautiful retreat to go to," she says.

Other "side trips" already have taken them to Hyde Park and Franklin D. Roosevelt's estate and burial place, and to West Point, home of the U. S. Military Academy. They've even been to Vermont, which is well on up the road.

As for New Yorkers, Cindy finds them surprisingly friendly. "There are the obnoxious ones, though, who are always behind you in traffic, screaming obscenities and blowing their horns," she says. "Then there are the 'off the wall' people who talk to themselves out loud on the streets and preach to anyone who will listen about anything that happens to be on their minds that day."

One of her favorite New Yorkers, however, is the man at the drugstore in Tuckahoe who likes her Southern accent. "People are not as open and as friendly as they are in the South," she says. "They are suspicious of you until they get to know you."

Jimmy's White House

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

Spending The Night In A Treehouse At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill Sanderson can brag to all his friends that he spent a night at the White House — in Amy Carter's tree house.

No fooling. Sanderson, a local computer worker whose hobby is barbecue cooking, was enlisted to prepare wood-smoked pork and beef for an outdoor White House party Monday night for youthful Carter campaign workers and the offspring of Congress members.

A dedicated barbecue chef, Sanderson ignited his supply of wood at 11 p.m. Sunday. Since he had to put the meat on the fire at 3 a.m. Monday, and turn the meat at two-hour intervals thereafter, he needed a resting place close to his work.

Solution: He spent the night in the tree house, close to his barbecue grills set up on the White House south lawn.

By all accounts, President Carter is comfortable with the "town meeting" format that finds him fielding questions from citizens.

And with questions like the following, who can blame him?

"My first question is I would like to ask you if you do think you will run for a second term?" said a young woman at Aliquippa, Pa., last Saturday. "And also, I would like to ask you, if possible, and if Rosalynn wouldn't mind, could I please give you a big hug?"

The president allowed himself to be hugged, observing, "That is the nicest question I have had so far."

They're not all that easy, of course. At the Aliquippa town meeting, for example, Carter was asked:

"We want to know why your administration has not had the courage to stand up to Menachem Begin (Israel's prime minister) and to the American Jewish community by simply cutting off all foreign aid to the Israelis until they give back all territories stolen from the Orthodox Christians and others in occupied Palestine."

Carter retorted, "I thank you for your very objective and unbiased question." He then paused for laughter and applause before launching into an extended discourse on the Palestinian issue.

One Pennsylvania woman, after telling Carter she would leave "all the big questions" to others, came at him with the following:

"How would you like to be the first president of the United States to honor us by being a member of the Beaver Castle Girl Scouts?"

Carter was invested on the spot.

Ever since the summit, Carter has been joking about that marathon

Food prices in New York, she writes, are about the same as they are in Murray. The same goes for clothes unless you want Calvin Klein's $125 shirts, which all the big department stores carry. "Some people actually wear that much money on their backs," she said.

Cindy and Chappell are happy in New York, but they look on their stay there as a temporary one. "We like to think of it as an extended vacation," she says, "because we hope to go back to the South one of these days."

Lucy, their little dog, isn't nearly as excited about living in New York, though. All the concrete, the scarcity of grassy plots and the city's new "pooper-scooper" regulations are making life there rather difficult for her.

Teaching Bible school at the First Baptist Church here on his first post-summit Sunday, the president announced to his class, "It's always nice to come back from a two-week vacation at Camp David."

In a more serious vein, he confided that the summit provided some of the most unpleasant moments of his life.

Tranquility Up In the Air

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Life is tranquil 500 feet above the earth.

The silence covers you like a blanket, and there's a feeling of detachment that lasts until Chuck Ehrler decides to switch on the burner.

As the hot air balloon began to rise, Ehrler scanned the horizon and explained why. "Planes shouldn't have any trouble spotting us, but it pays to be careful. Everything we do, we have to do 15 seconds ahead of time."

It takes that long for the balloon to adjust its temperature and react to the air being forced in or out of the craft.

At 25, Ehrler is a veteran pilot, a former national champion, and the distributor for balloons in Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio and Indiana. He flies every day, weather permitting, and on weekends competes against other balloonists around the country.

"This is the first year for the professional circuit. Moneywise, it's in the stage that golf was 60 years ago. Our sport is growing. So are the number of participants."

His sales have soared in 1978 and, he said, "I've had customers who told me they were afraid of heights. Once they get into a balloon, that fear seems to vanish."

Ehrler sells a two-man balloon for $6,500 and, if necessary, can teach you to fly the contraption. Maintenance is low and the cost of propane for an average flight is $10 an hour.

There's a minimum of 10 hours in-flight training required before a student is ready to take the Federal Aviation Administration test for a license. A balloonist must be 16-years-old but it's possible to become a student pilot at 14.

Ehrler started 4½ years ago. After one semester at the University of Kentucky, he decided to postpone his education for a career in ballooning.

He got no argument from his father,

In 1974, after less than one month of flying, the younger Ehrler was in Indianola, Iowa, ready to test his skill against 160 other more seasoned pilots for the U. S. title.

"Nobody thought I had a chance, not even Mike, who had ripped his balloon and was forced to drop out," said Ehrler.

When the scores from all events were totaled, the audacious youngster walked away with the trophy.

He currently is in third place on the pro tour but Ehrler expects his standing to improve by the time the finals are held at Orlando, Fla., later in the year.

"There's a $5,000 first prize and I'd like to pocket it," he said. "That would make my wife happy."

Ehrler said she "gets a kick out of ballooning but not enough to try it on her own — yet."

Easterly Expected To Get Most Of Party Money For Campaign

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — State Democratic officials have indicated that Tom Easterly will get the bulk of available party money for his close race against Republican Larry Hopkins for the 6th District congressional seat.

A special finance committee met Wednesday at party headquarters and heard pleas for aid from representatives of four Democratic congressional candidates.

State chairman Marie Turner, who is on the committee, said that she and her colleagues will make the decision shortly.

But in answer to a newsman's question about Easterly's needs, she commented:

"We should give him all we can because if he loses, that would hurt the Democratic Party."

The GOP regards the Bluegrass district race as its best opportunity in years to gain a seat in the U.S. House. Kentucky now has five Democratic and two Republican congressmen.

Mike Templeman, assistant to the chairman, said that a total of about $22,000 now is available for the candidates, with several thousand dollars still expected from a fund drive launched a couple of months ago in which Democrats were asked to contribute $19.78 each.

He said that the finance committee already has allotted $5,000 to Easterly, a Frankfort lawyer, which is the limit he can receive directly under federal law.

Templeman said the candidate could obtain another sum of no more than $12,000 for indirect expenses, but that from the maximum total, aid given by county committees would have to be deducted.

The other candidates seeking aid were incumbent Ron Mazzoli in the 3rd District, challenger George Martin in the 4th and challenger Jesse Ramey in the 5th, a Republican stronghold.

Martin told reporters he asked for $4,000 and added that money should be used to stimulate interest that would carry over into next year's statewide election.

The representative for Mazzoli, who is favored in November, said he asked for money to pay campaign workers.

Democratic officials indicated that all the candidates would get some allotment.

A representative of U.S. Sen. Walter "Dee" Huddleston also asked for a modest amount of money so that Huddleston may keep his office at Democratic headquarters. Easterly also has space in the headquarters.

Mrs. Turner will preside Friday at a meeting called by Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall to muster Democrats for the fall campaign and avoid splintering the party because of next year's gubernatorial primary.

Mrs. Stovall, an announced Democratic candidate for governor, invited all candidates to attend the harmony meeting.

She said she is going to stress that Democrats "have the 1978 races to worry about until November. After that, they can go to work on 1979."

Union, Rail Negotiators Said Making Progress In Bargaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union and railroad negotiators, facing a noon deadline, were reported making progress early today in talks aimed at avoiding a government-imposed solution to a rail strike which has paralyzed parts of 42 states. Representatives for the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks Union and the Norfolk & Western Railway met with federal mediator James J. Reynolds into the early morning hours.

Shortly after midnight a Labor Department spokesman said, "The parties are making progress and can be expected to continue negotiations through the morning."

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall ordered the 24-hour bargaining session Wednesday morning, vowing the administration would "start the trains running again" at mid-day if negotiators can't work out a deal.

Marshall did not specify what action the administration would take, but experts said the president's most likely options would be to force a temporary end to the strike by declaring a national emergency or seek emergency legislation from Congress to order striking workers back to their jobs.

The last nationwide rail strike, a 1971 signalmen's walkout, was ended by Congress after two days.

Technically, BRAC is on strike only against N&W, the nation's seventh largest carrier, but the union, in an effort to bring pressure on the Virginia-based railroad, expanded the walkout to 43 other rail lines Tuesday morning.

The walkout widened Wednesday to include virtually all the nation's major railroads when the union ordered picket lines thrown up against 73 rail carriers. The strike produced sharp, swift repercussions as millions of tons of freight were stranded and thousands of commuters were forced to their cars.

Amtrak, the national passenger line, halted virtually all of its runs except for the heavily traveled Boston-to-Washington routes.

The nation's two largest auto makers, General Motors and Ford Motor Co., put workers in 17 plants in this country and Canada on half-day shifts because of parts shortages.

Thousands of coal miners were laid off because no railroad cars were available to haul coal. The American Association of Railroads estimated that shipments of grain were down 65 percent because of the rail shutdown, which comes at the peak harvest season.

Michigan Gov. William Milliken wired Transportation Secretary Brock Adams that the strike "will soon have a devastating effect on Michigan's economy unless resolved immediately."

Officials estimated that Tuesday's initial picketing idled 330,000 of the half-million railroad employees.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, trying to minimize the impact of the shutdown, authorized bus and trucking companies to expand operations. The strike began on July 10 as a local clerks' union dispute with the N&W over job protection benefits for workers whose employment is threatened by automation. The 235,000-member clerks union spread its picketing on Tuesday to 43 railroads whose lines interchange with N&W operations.

Gonorrhea Cases

Showing Decline

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Reported cases of gonorrhea have shown the first decline in Kentucky in 15 years.

The number of cases decreased 5.1 percent last fiscal year from the previous year, the state Department for Human Resources reported.

Until then, cases of the venereal disease had been rising steadily since 1963.

There were 2,603 cases reported in 1963, a total of 11,722 in fiscal 1976 and 11,119 last fiscal year.

Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn attributed the decline by efforts of local health departments to locate, examine and treat the disease.

Conn also said the fact that all information about contacts is kept in strict confidence has contributed to the program's success.

Three-fourths of the gonorrhea cases in Kentucky involve persons under 25, and at least half that number are teen-agers or younger, the state reported.

Murray High Seeking 1st District Victory Friday

By TONY WILSON
Sports Editor

Whoa, wait a minute. Murray High can't be playing Caldwell County. It wasn't ranked among the top five teams in the state in the Associated Press' latest prep poll.

But it's true. And though he won't admit it, Tiger Coach John Hina is surely breathing a sigh of relief after facing the no. 2 and 4 teams in Mayfield and Heath, respectively, the past two Fridays.

Murray opened its season against Class AAA Reidland at home, winning 15-6. But the streak stopped at one.

The Tigers were beaten by a bruising Lake County team 14-6 in Tiptonville, Tenn., the following Friday before running into the current bullies of Class AA.

Mayfield invaded Ty Holland Stadium two weeks ago and left with a 35-15 victory. Then last week Murray caromed off a stone wall known as the Heath defense and fell 20-6. The combined records of Mayfield and Heath is 8-0, and the two teams' meeting Oct. 13 will almost surely decide the district champion.

Now 1-3, the Tigers will face a Caldwell County team Friday (8 p.m., Holland Stadium) that is 2-2. The Tigers (that's their nickname, too) have beaten district rival Trigg County (28-0) and Crittendon and lost to Seneca (8-6) and Christian County, now top-ranked in Class 4A.

Despite the loss to Heath, Hina wasn't as disappointed as one might think. "They were just a fine ball club, and a lot more physical than I thought," he said.

Hina was pleased with the fact that the Tigers forced Heath from their regular veer offense game plan, but somewhat surprised with what happened afterward.

"They changed in the second half and ran straight at us," said Hina. "And we were simply overpowered. I really didn't expect that." Greg Wright rambed for 135 yards as the Pirates racked up 310 yards rushing.

But Hina has no qualms with individual efforts he has received this season. "That has been just tremendous. Heath and Mayfield are both fine teams. Sometimes it's just a question of being beaten by a better football squad."

Caldwell County will attempt to extend its domination over the Tigers. It has won all four meetings in the series between the two teams, which began in 1974.

Caldwell and Murray combined for 13 turnovers in the 1974 game as the Caldwell won 7-6. But Murray went on to capture the Class A state championship.

In 1975, Murray was burdened with 105 yards in penalties in dropping a 26-13 decision.

Then in '76, heavy underdog Caldwell whipped Murray, again 7-6, despite Murray's

No. 1 ranking in Class AA. That loss cost the Tigers a chance for a trip to the playoffs. Mayfield and the two Tiger teams tied for the district title, but the Cardinals advanced by virtue of their winning a tiebreaker system.

Last season, a strong Caldwell team whitewashed the Tigers 20-0.

Caldwell will center their game plan, says Coach Al Giordano, around their three experienced linemen - Stan Hudson, Mark Barnes and Jim Dyer.

Hudson is a 6-3, 210-pound senior tight end; Barnes, a 6-0, 205-pound tackle; and Dyer, a 5-11, 200-pound senior guard. The three are captains of the squad.

"We like to try to run a lot of plays their way," said Giordano. The primary ball carrier running in that direction so far has been Neil Cummins, a 6-0, 190-pound fullback. Cummins has rushed for over 600 yards in the Tigers' first four games.

"Neil is just a big strong kid, and we like for him to have the ball," said Giordano.

The Caldwell coach admitted that Friday's game is a big one. "There's always a premium placed on district games, and this will be the point in our season where we will either go somewhere or not," he said.

Victory-wise, Hina feels much the same way. "We had, I think, our best practice of the season Monday," said Hina. "So I think we will be ready for them. We're hungry for a win."

Bucs Have Captured 22 In Row, But Need 4 More For Pennant

By the Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates have won 22 games in a row at their home park, Three Rivers Stadium. If they don't stretch the streak to 26, they can forget about winning the National League East title — and the Philadelphia Phillies will be division champions for the third straight year.

The Phillies, leading the NL East by 3½ games, and the Pirates, in second place, begin a crucial four-game series at Pittsburgh Friday night with a double-header. They play single games Saturday and Sunday.

Philadelphia needs only one victory to capture the championship. However, if the Pirates sweep the series, they would be one-half game ahead of the Phillies and would have to play a makeup game against Cincinnati Monday.

A victory in that game would make the Pirates champions. A loss would deadlock them with Philadelphia and the two teams would meet in a one-game showdown.

Should Pittsburgh win all four games against Philadelphia over the weekend, they would equal the longest home winning streak in major league history — 26 games by the 1916 New York Giants.

In other NL games Wednesday, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3, the San Francisco Giants blanked the San Diego Padres 1-0 and the Houston Astros downed the Atlanta Braves 4-0.

Phillies 5, Expos 4
Jerry Martin broke a 0-for-12 slump with four hits, drove in one run and scored another, helping the Phillies beat Montreal and reducing their magic number for clinching to two.

"I hadn't hit the ball hard since Moby Dick was a minnow," quipped Martin, who had not had a hit since Sept. 2.

Pirates 8, Cubs 3
Phil Garner's bases-loaded triple highlighted a six-run Pittsburgh uprising in the sixth inning and Parker slugged his 30th homer, backing the seventh hit pitching of Jerry Reuss against Chicago.

Despite Pittsburgh's victory and Tanner's enthusiasm,

Chicago Manager Herman Franks doesn't believe the Pirates can overtake the Phillies.

Reds 5, Dodgers 3
Cincinnati clung to second place in the West, one game ahead of San Francisco, rallying for four runs in the eighth inning and beating Los Angeles, the division champion.

George Foster's 37th homer, his 114th RBI of the season, tied the score 3-3, then Champ Summers singled in the go-ahead run and Arturo DeFeo's sacrifice fly drove in an insurance run.

Giants 1, Padres 0
San Francisco ended its home season by edging San Diego on Bob Knepper's five-hit pitching and an RBI grounder by Roger Metzger. Knepper's shutout was his second in a row and sixth of the season, tops in the National League.

Astros 4, Braves 0
Vern Riffe and Joe Sambito collaborated on a five-hitter and rookie Jeff Leonard rapped a three-run double during a four-run eighth inning, helping Houston top Atlanta. Ruffe worked the first seven innings, extending his shutout string against the Braves to 25 innings.

Saturday's Is A Must Game For Sagging Fighting Irish

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Notre Dame, having dropped its first two games of the young college football season, may now be faced with a "win or else" situation. Or else what? Or else face the prospect of losing one its lucrative television appearances.

Under ABC's contract with the NCAA, the network is prohibited from televising any team during the regular season more than five times over a two-year period. The idea — the NCAA's idea — is to prevent the big schools from monopolizing the TV money and to spread the wealth around.

Notre Dame, defending national champion and a good draw on the tube, was already on once, in a big regional against Michigan last weekend. ABC has not yet disclosed its future plans for the Irish but it's a good bet the network was eyeing ND-Pittsburgh Oct. 14 and ND-Southern California Nov. 24, giving the school three appearances this year and leaving two for next year.

But with the Irish off to an 0-2 start, they have lost some of their drawing power. A loss this week to Purdue or next week to Michigan State could all but seal Notre Dame's doom, as far as TV is concerned. ABC could look elsewhere for an Oct. 14 game or an Oct. 24 game or, for that matter, for both dates.

All of which translates into a financial loss for the defending national champs. Division I-A or I-AA teams which appear on a national game split $533,000 and those televised regionally split $401,000.

ABC will not have to make a decision on the ND-Pitt game until the Monday before. The network has been playing it cozy this season, waiting as long as possible before selecting games. ABC must announce its September lineup by April 1 but it can hold off on the rest of the schedule until the Monday before the games involved. The only game the network has officially announced beyond September this year in the Oklahoma-Texas clash Oct. 7.

Last year ABC announced its plans early and was surprised, as was everyone else, when Texas emerged as the No. 1 team. The network scrambled to get the Longhorns on twice, against Arkansas and Baylor, but decided to await unforeseen developments this time around.

ABC has got seven regionals lined up this weekend, including Hobart at St. Lawrence in a Division III contest. Hobart at St. Lawrence? The network's contract with the NCAA provides that three Division III games must be televised each year and this is one of them. The game will be shown only in the Syracuse, N.Y., area which may or may not be a blow to the rest of the country.

The teams will share in the TV booty but not greatly, splitting only $15,000 or about 1-27th of the normal regional payoff for a Division I-A or I-AA team.

Last Sunday night during the New England-Oakland NFL game, ABC's crew had some fun with the regional lineup. Frank Gifford was announcing the upcoming games and when Gifford mentioned Hobart at St. Lawrence, Howard Cosell deadpanned: "Naturally, Dandy Don and I will be on hand to bring you that one."

With World Series, Watson Is The Best

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tom Watson is seeking an accomplishment unique in Tour history this week in the prestigious World Series of Golf, the last major event on the year's schedule.

Watson, the heir apparent to Jack Nicklaus' longtime role as golf's leading performer, last season swept three major honors — Player of the Year, leading money-winner and the Vardon Trophy for the low-stroke average on the tour.

Coming into the event that began today on the sprawling, 7,180-yard, par-70 South Course at the Firestone Country Club, Watson again led in all three categories. Should he win them all again, he'd be the first man ever to sweep all three in consecutive seasons.

"I'm not a specific, goal-oriented person," Watson said. "But I'd like to win the Vardon Trophy. That's important. That's the standard. Basically, over the years, we've played the same courses, so the stroke average means something."

And, as to the money-winning title, Watson grinned: "You win the Vardon Trophy, baby, and you're going to win some money."

And he's done that: He has collected $343,429 this season and very well could break Johnny Miller's 1974 single-season record of $353,021. A finish of fifth or better here would do it. The World Series of Golf purse is $300,000 with the game's biggest prize, $100,000, going to the winner.

His only challengers for money-winning honors are Andy Bean ($258,440 this year) and Nicklaus ($249,772). Either would have to win and have Watson play poorly to have any chance of catching him.

And Nicklaus appears the only challenger for Player-of-the-Year honors. Watson has won five times in this country, including his last two starts. No one else has won more than three American tournaments. Nicklaus has won three plus the British Open and would have to take this one to have a chance.

That's very possible. Nicklaus has an unmatched history of success on this course. He won the first World Series played under its present, expanded format. He won four of the old, four-man World Series. He won the American Golf Classic here and the PGA national championship. In all, he's taken more than one-half million dollars in winnings from events on this course alone.

Watson's greatest threat is in the Vardon standings. He holds a 70.17 average in 89 rounds. Lee Trevino is second at 70.20 in 95 rounds.

Retirement Of Humphrey Stuns Many Falcon Players

ATLANTA (AP) — Shocked Atlanta Falcons players set about regrouping today after learning their three-time All-Pro teammate, defensive end Claude Humphrey, is retiring from football.

The 34-year-old Humphrey, a 10-year veteran, announced his retirement Wednesday, saying, "The time has come."

The Falcons, 1-3, are already reeling from the losses through injuries for the season of wide receiver Alfred Jenkins and safety Ray Easterling.

"We've got to live with it," said five-year veteran Jeff Yeates, who will take Humphrey's place in the lineup. "It took me by complete surprise, but I've got to prepare the same as I do for all the games."

"I just hope it's what he wants," said defensive tackle Jim Bailey. "I just hope he can look back in two weeks and say he did it and he's glad. We'll certainly miss having him around. It's a shock. I'm just starting to become aware of it."

"He's going out with style and class," said team owner Rankin Smith, adding that no other Falcon will wear Humphrey's No. 87. "He's hanging it up. Notice I didn't say quit, because Claude Humphrey has never been a quitter."

"It has nothing to do with the team," Humphrey said. "It's me. I just couldn't get myself ready to play. It is just something that must come in every man's life, and I thought this was the time for me."

"I've always been a person who went on emotion and impulses," he said. "I hope I'm doing the right thing. I don't feel I've played up to my particular standard of play. I don't want to be the one that's doing bad and messing up."

Humphrey's standard was particularly high. Drafted No. 1 by the Falcons from Tennessee State in 1968, he was the National Football League defensive rookie of the year. He was All-Pro in 1971, 1972 and 1973 and played in the Pro Bowl five times. Out for the entire 1975 season with an ankle injury, he came back in 1976 to set a personal record of 18 quarterback sacks. He was one of the team's leaders last year when it set a league record by allowing only 129 points in 14 games.

Coach Leeman Bennett said he didn't try to talk Humphrey out of retiring. "All I asked him to do was make sure he was making the right decision," Bennett said. "He assured me he was. That was that. But you don't lose a man of Claude's stature without it having an effect on your football team."

The 6-foot-5, 250-pound Humphrey said he planned to sell his house in Atlanta and move with his wife and two daughters to Memphis, his hometown, "where I'm just another big guy."

NCAA Is Fearful Of Losing Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association says it is willing to change its rules enforcement process — but not if it will weaken the organization's control of its programs, Congress has been told.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, and J. Neils Thompson, the organization's president, told the House investigations subcommittee Wednesday that the enforcement rules and regulations are constantly under scrutiny by the membership of the collegiate sports association.

Arthur R. Reynolds and Charles Alan Wright, the outgoing and incoming chairmen, respectively, of the NCAA infractions committee, testify today before the House subcommittee, which has been investigating the NCAA's rules enforcement procedures for the past year.

The subcommittee is investigating whether the NCAA policies violate antitrust laws and whether the penalties assessed to member schools, athletes and coaches are fair and equitable.

During the day-long hearing, the first in which representatives of the NCAA gave their views to the subcommittee, Byers said he had an open mind on changes in the current procedures.

However, Byers testified, "I will resist to my last ounce of breath any suggestions that will weaken the program. The forces are so strong that if we don't have an effective program, intercollegiate athletics will go down the drain."

"Quite possibly someone not intimately familiar with recruiting and financial aid and the difficulty of getting information to enforce the rules will do something that is very injurious," he said.

Committee chairman John E. Moss, D-Calif., interjected: "We don't want to weaken the program. We want to strengthen and improve an imperfect system."

Much of the day was spent in quizzing Byers on his role as executive director and his relationship with the NCAA's investigations staff and with the NCAA Council, the policy-making body which acts on appeals in infractions cases.

Hawks Reduce Roster; Kemper Clears Hurdle

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Hawks have reduced their National Basketball Association roster to 14 players by placing rookies Jim DeWeese and Paul Zaretsky on waivers.

DeWeese, a 6-foot-5 guard from Gonzaga University, was a seventh-round draft choice. Zaretsky, a 6-foot center, played in Europe last year and was a freeagent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed transfer of the Kemper Open golf tournament to the Washington area has cleared its last major hurdle as members of the Congressional Country Club voted to act as hosts for the tourney in 1980.

Formal approval for the move is still needed by the Kemper Insurance Co.'s board of directors and by the PGA Tour policy board.

But that should be no problem because Deane Beman, commissioner of the PGA Tour, initiated the talks with Kemper about moving the tournament to the Washington area from Charlotte, N.C., where it has been played the past decade.

The 50th year's purse is expected to be about $400,000 by 1980.

Rankings Like West Movies, And Tide Were Gunned Down

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

The No. 1 ranking in college football is like being top gun in one of those old wild west movies. There's always some young punk around eager to bump you off.

Missouri is more than a young punk. This is the team that took on national champion Notre Dame in the opening game and won. Then it tackled top-ranked Alabama and led into the third period. Then it beat a good Mississippi team.

Now it goes gunning for No. 1 again, this time Oklahoma, drunk from heady point-a-minute wine. Third time may be charm for the Big Mos.

The Southern Cal upset of Alabama featured last week's look into the crystal ball. Season's record 77-24, 762.

Missouri 33, Oklahoma 25: The Tigers are unawed by the Sooners' TD machine, which has ground out 153 points in three games.

Arkansas 30, Tulsa 7: The Razorbacks, eyeing the No. 1 spot, won't need Ismael Ordonez' talented toe to win this one.

Southern California 24, Michigan State 14 (Friday): Charlie White's legs should be sore but he'll still soar.

Notre Dame 28, Purdue 20: A vital game for the Fighting Irish, who will be hanging on by their fingernails to escape utter disaster.

Penn State 35, Texas Christian 13: The Nittany Lions uphold the pride of the effete East.

UCLA 20, Minnesota 14: Even should the Gophers plug up Rick Bashore's passing lanes, there's always Theotis Brown.

Pittsburgh 20, North Carolina 17: Pitt's Willie Marsh has three interceptions this year. Do the Tar Heels want to try for four?

Texas 27, Texas Tech 3: How do you score if you can't see the goal line? The Longhorns lead the country in defense.

Alabama 25, Vanderbilt 7: Jeff Rutledge and his teammates emerge from the USC nightmare — the season is still young.

Ohio State 24, Baylor 7: Ron Springs may do a little more springing but QB Art Schlichter remains Woody's ace in the hole.

Michigan 35, Duke 14: If Notre Dame's agile behemoths couldn't stop Rick Leach's heroics, how can the Blue Devils do it?

Kentucky 21, Maryland 14: A sputtering start for the Wildcats after a 10-1 season, but the cylinders should start clicking.

Washington State 21, Army 7: It's a long way to come for the Cougars, who want more than a look at the Hudson.

Louisiana State 27, Rice 10: Tailback Charles Alexander puts in some good licks in his bid for the Heisman.

Tennessee 15, Auburn 9: The Volunteers have to apply the brakes to Auburn's James Brooks, averaging six yards a zap.

Nebraska 25, Indiana 20: The Hoosiers are the year's major surprise, but Nebraska has too many horses.

Oh, How It Hurts

Bosox Would Like To Play Again

By the Associated Press
One game — it could have been the loss to Cleveland in April, Toronto in May, Oakland in June, Minnesota in July or Seattle in August. Reverse the outcome in any of those games, and the Boston Red Sox would be in much better shape today.

They have been one game behind the New York Yankees in the American League East since Saturday and each day that one game looms larger.

Boston beat Detroit 5-2 Wednesday night, while the Yankees were defeating Toronto 5-1, so the Red Sox are still running, albeit running in place.

"This is the tightest race I've been in," said Reggie Jackson, who played for three straight world championship teams at Oakland. "I don't like it."

Elsewhere in the AL, one day after Kansas City won its third straight West title, the Royals lost to Seattle 4-2; Baltimore downed Cleveland 3-1; Texas thumped Minnesota 10-5 and California beat Milwaukee 4-1.

Red Sox 5, Tigers 2
The Red Sox, helped by a three-run first inning keyed by Carlton Fisk's two-run triple, posted their fourth consecutive victory and eighth in the last 10 games. Scott, fighting a seasonlong slump, knocked in a pair of runs with a single and his 12th homer of the year. Luis Tiant, 12-8, allowed homers by Rusty Staub and Ron LeFlore before leaving after six innings because of a slight muscle pull behind his left knee.

Yankees 5, Blue Jays 1
Jackson and his old Oakland teammate Catfish Hunter helped reduce the Yankees' magic number to four in pursuit of their third straight division flag. Hunter, 12-5, won his ninth game in the last 10 decisions with a six-hitter. He gave up his usual homer, this one to Roy Howell, who committed a key error in the Yanks' three-run second inning.

Orioles 3, Indians 1
Dennis Martinez pitched in and out of trouble all game, giving up 10 hits and four walks. He stranded five runners in the first three innings but threw the right pitch at the right time to raise his record to 15-11.

Mariners 4, Royals 2
Ruppert Jones slashed a two-run triple, highlighting a three-run ninth inning that rallied Seattle over Kansas City and prevented Paul Splittorff from gaining his 20th victory.

Byron McLaughlin, 4-8, pitched a seven-hitter.

Rangers 10, Twins 5
Toby Harrah rapped out his 1,000th career hit, a three-run homer that capped a five-run fifth and propelled Texas over Minnesota. The two-out homer came off reliever Mike Marshall and followed a two-run single by Juan Beniquez.

Angels 4, Brewers 1
Dave Frost scattered 10 hits before needing last-out relief help from Dave LaRoche, who picked up his 25th save.

Rick Miller's second double knocked in two runs in the fifth, breaking a scoreless tie.

Lyle Is Charged In Beating Again

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Ron Lyle remained free on $1,500 bond today after being formally charged in District Court with second-degree assault in connection with the alleged beating of his common-law wife.

Lyle posted the bond after his arrest Monday and was warned not to go to the hospital where Patty Jean Lyle was recovering from surgery for a ruptured spleen. The boxer's request for a restraining order requiring the woman not to approach his home was denied.

Authorities said the woman jumped from a second-floor window of Lyle's home in the Denver suburb of Lakewood Sunday night and claimed the 36-year-old Lyle had assaulted her.

It was not certain whether her spleen was ruptured in the jump or in the reported altercation, police said. She underwent surgery and has been confined to St. Anthony Hospital in Denver.

Lyle has been charged with third-degree assault for allegedly beating her on Sept. 10.

Lyle awaits trial on charges of first- and second-degree murder in connection with the shooting death last New Year's Eve of a former member of his boxing entourage.

Hughes, Fore Selected

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Eastern Kentucky quarterback Bill Hughes and Tennessee Tech running back Cecil Fore share honors as the Ohio Valley Conference offensive football player of the week.

Hughes, a 6-foot-2, 190-pound senior, completed five of seven passes for 147 yards and two touchdowns as Eastern Kentucky clobbered East Tennessee 49-6. He also rushed for 79 yards on six carries.

The officials have played a big part in Murray State's football so far - but unfortunately for the worst. The Racers have been penalized 27 times for 262 yards, tops in the league. Murray goes after its first Ohio Valley Conference victory Saturday in a 1:30 p.m. game at Morehead.

Bench Forsees Changes In Reds' Organization Before '79 Season Begins

CINCINNATI (AP) — Johnny Bench expects "some startling changes" by the Cincinnati Reds during the off-season.

"This organization was founded on conservatism and doing things right. Now I think they have to try some things," said Bench, apparently suggesting Cincinnati should enter the free agent market.

"They went and got Tom Seaver and we needed him and they paid a big price to get him. It was a step in the right direction," Bench said.

The Reds finished a distant 10½ games behind Los Angeles last year in the National League West race and have been eliminated again this year. The team won consecutive world championships in 1975 and 1976.

Bench claimed Reds General Manager Bob Howsam was especially proud to be a part of the second world championship team "because, he said, it probably marked the end of what baseball had been. He meant it as a warning that things would change."

In analyzing the decline of the team, Bench said he feels the Reds "gradually lose little chips until we have to be retouched."

"Gullet and Eastwick go. At first, this front office's actions were dictated by what they thought was right. They tried."

"I think they'll make some startling changes," he said.

There is speculation that the Reds could lose 37-year-old captain Pete Rose to the free agent market this year.

Others feel 35-year-old second baseman Joe Morgan and even Bench could be expendable if a youth movement comes.

Rose admits he is going to try the free agent role to test his worth. The Reds could keep him by matching the best offer he receives elsewhere.

Morgan, troubled by injury through much of the season, is flirting with a career-low batting average. He is currently hitting .236 after winning consecutive Most Valuable Player awards in 1975 and 1976, when his average climbed to career highs of .327 and .320. Morgan has 13 home runs and 75 runs batted in.

Bench, out for several weeks with a back injury, is hitting .261 in 116 games, with 22 home runs and 67 RBIs.

Hunt Feels Ignored By Bengals' Staff

CINCINNATI (AP) — Although he stands 6-foot-6 and weighs 275 pounds, reserve offensive tackle Ron Hunt believes he's invisible to the Cincinnati Bengals coaching staff.

"I have a lot of talent that's being wasted. It's like I'm an invisible man. I don't know what's going on," said Hunt, who hasn't seen action since the first game of the National Football League season.

"I don't think I'm going to be around here much longer, maybe a week," Hunt predicted. "And I hope they do trade me or waive me or something."

Hunt started at right tackle in the season opener against the Kansas City Chiefs, substituting for the injured Vernon Holland.

At Exposition Center

Fox Trotting Saturday

Bartley Taylor, Route 1, Farmington, is shown on Lady Dean, which will be his entry in the Kentucky State Fox Trotting horse championships at the West Kentucky Livestock and Exposition Center Saturday.

The Eleventh Annual Kentucky Championship Fox Trotting Horse Show will be held at the Murray State University Exposition Center Saturday with shows at 1 and 6 p.m.

The fox trot, the gait which makes this horse unique, is a broken two beat gait that can be compared to the rhythm of the dance, famous a few years ago. To view the horse, one would describe it as walking with the front feet and trotting with the back feet. This gait is very smooth, sure-footed, and the horse can travel at a speed of six to ten miles per hour for an extended period of time.

Admission is $1.00 for adults and children under 12 will be admitted free. The afternoon show will feature model classes in which the horse is shown in halter to judge his conformation.

The stakes or championship classes begin at 6 p.m. These seven championship classes are divided into horse age championships, and championships by state. To climax the evening of showing, the Kentucky Grand Champion Fox Trotting Horse will be selected.

Five place trophies with special champion and serve trophies will be presented to the class winners. In addition, the five winners in the Grand Championship class will divide $375.00 in prize money.

Arrangements for exhibitors of horses for stalls and/or camping facilities can be made by contacting show secretary Connie H. Talent, Rt. 1, Box 231, Almo, Ky., at 502-753-9894 or 502-762-3371.

No Jogging, Sprinting Or Yoga

Snoozing Diet Is Languishing Its Way Through Italy

ROME (AP) — A new diet is sweeping Italy — or at least languishing its way up the Tyrrhenian seacoast from Amalfi to Naples to Rome and will one of these days yawn its way to the Italian Riviera.

In the easy going Italian style, no jogging, sprinting, yoga or calisthenics are required.

Quite the opposite, in fact. One stays in bed all day and refrains from getting nervous.

Reclining like a Roman in Lucullan luxury (after the manner of Lucius Lincinius Lucullus, the Roman general and epicure who according to surviving statuary definitely had a weight problem) has become the new fad diet for cruiser class Italian opera divas who put aboard too much pasta during the summer recess and want to get back to clipper-sized by La Scala's opening night.

Darya Quinn, gossip columnist for the Rome Daily American, revealed the secrets of the snoozing diet after a recent fact-finding expedition down the Via Veneto, her turf for titillating tattle and an occasional pinch of scandal. Fortunately not all of Rome had taken to its beds to shed excess poundage and few acolytes of the dolce vita were abroad on that famous boulevard to fill her in on the details of what she soon told her readers was "the new, comfortable and chic" way to shape up.

"You don't get up in the morning," Ms. Quinn passed on the new horizontal counter-attack on calories, "but you sip your tea with a biscuit. You freshen up, and rest in bed reading, ringing up, writing, painting, thinking and doing whatever doesn't make you nervous."

That, apparently, is the nerve center of the whole diet: don't get nervous, even about the mounting telephone bill as you chatter with your friends in recumbent ease.

"Then at midday," columnist Quinn continues, "You get up and go for an hour of strolling." — This probably to prevent bed sores and give the phone a rest. — "Then again in bed after a light lunch of meat, vegetables and water. In the afternoon you receive your friends, while in bed and while sipping with them a strong tea."

Sandwiches and cakes are permitted the visitors, but the couchant calorie counter must be satisfied solely with the tea.

"At dinner," Quinn resumes her rundown, "you participate in the family evening meal, eating cheese and vegetables and drinking milk. Then to bed again." Nothing about a midnight snack or somnambulant raid on the fridge.

If the slumbering slimmer can endure this indolent pace for a week, "you lose three or four kilos" (up to almost 9 pounds), Quinn promises, "and emerge from bed with splendid complexion, soft humor and resplendent eyes."

Which is the way I usually arise from bed anyway, except the scale always shows I have put on another pound or two. It must be nerves.

Attorney General Nixes Tax Levy

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The attorney general's office says Pike County cannot levy an occupational or license tax without the approval of a public referendum.

In an opinion Wednesday, Assistant Deputy Attorney General Charles Runyan said the referendum requirement applies to counties which have 30,000 or more residents, with the exception of Jefferson County.

Assistant Pike County Attorney Nelson Sparks, who asked for the opinion, was advised that fiscal court can impose such a tax for a maximum of 1 percent of salaries and net business profits, but must then submit the question to voters at the next general election.

"If the license tax is rejected by a majority of those voting, (it) shall be repealed effective Dec. 31 of the same year," Runyan said.

He added that if the tax question is approved, "the fiscal court may appropriately specify the county governmental purposes to which the revenue derived from the tax shall be applied."

In another opinion, the attorney general's office clarified new legislation involving the authority of the Kentucky Housing Corporation to make home loans to poor and modest-income families.

"It is very clear that the Legislature did not intend for the corporation to compete with the private sector in the mortgage lending business," Deputy Attorney General Thomas Jacobs said.

"It has therefore imposed a requirement that the corporation determine that the loans it proposes to make have been refused in writing by those operating in the private sector."

Actually, Jacobs told Wallace Grafton Jr., a Louisville attorney, the 1978 amendment merely makes formal what the housing corporation has been doing anyway.

How the corporation makes the determination that housing applicants have not been able to obtain private loans is the question, he said.

Grafton had suggested that the corporation mail letters to all recognized lenders in a given area, describing proposed corporation loans and asking if they wanted to handle them under similar conditions. Negative responses then would constitute refusals.

Jacobs indicated that the market could be analyzed more simply.

Centennial Celebration Will Be Sunday At Cherry Corner

Sunday, Oct. 1, the Cherry Corner Baptist Church will celebrate 100 years of ministry with a special day of festivities planned, according to the pastor, the Rev. William Taylor.

Rev. John Ryberg
—Centennial Speaker

The Rev. John Ryberg, pastor of First Baptist Church, Smithfield, N.C., will be the featured speaker. Rev. Ryberg was pastor of Cherry Corner during the late 1940's and is remembered by many members as "the pastor who helped the church get ready for the fifties and sixties."

Under the leadership of Rev. Ryberg the church restructured and experienced a period of significant growth and the effects of his period of ministry exists today, the church pastor said. Rev. Ryberg will speak on the subject, "The Mark of A Church."

Cherry Corner Baptist Church is one of the older Baptist churches in Calloway County. The church grew out of a man's impression from God and an acceptance of that challenge, the pastor said as he related the story of its beginning.

Rev. Taylor said the Rev. J. C. Spann, then pastor of Locust Grove Baptist Church, was riding through the community and saw a place covered in sawdust in a grove of trees which had been used for a dance. His impression was, as the story goes, "if people could gather to dance, then they could gather to serve and worship the Lord God." Rev. Spann held a revival meeting in the grove and from that gathering eventually Cherry Corner Baptist Church was founded and has continued in the ministry of the Southeastern area of Calloway County.

Sunday's activities at the church will begin with Sunday School at ten a.m. with the church seeking to have one hundred per cent of its enrollment present. Rev. Ryberg will speak at the eleven a.m. worship.

A basket lunch will be served at noon, followed by an afternoon service of praise, testimony, recognition, and gospel music, Rev. Taylor said.

The fellowship of the church extends a welcome to all friends, former members, present members, and to the general public to attend the activities at the church on this Centennial Sunday at Cherry Corner.

Elm Grove Church Plans Ground Breaking Sunday

The Elm Grove Baptist Church will have a day of special events on Sunday, Oct. 1, according to the pastor, the Rev. Calvin Wilkins.

A "Ground Breaking Service" for the new Christian Life Center at the church will be held at 1:30 p.m. with a former pastor, the Rev. W. A. Farmer, to be the speaker at the special service. Special singing and praise will be included in the service, the pastor said.

The new multi-purpose center will include several new classrooms, a large kitchen, a fellowship hall, and a 3/4 size gymnasium. Sunday will also be Building Fund Day in the church which has been in an effort to raise additional money before construction of the new building which should be underway before long, Rev. Wilkins said.

Worship services will be held at eleven a.m. Sunday with Sunday School at ten a.m.

A basket dinner will be served following the morning worship.

The day will conclude with the Church Training Hour at six p.m. followed by the regular evening service at 6:45.

Any former members and friends are welcome to all the activities of the day at Elm Grove, said the pastor.

Professor Feels State Shield Law Needs Improvement

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — University of Kentucky law professor Robert Lawson feels Kentucky's newspaper shield law could probably be improved, but says he isn't sure it could ever satisfy everyone. Lawson told the Interim Joint Judiciary Statutes Committee that he favors a narrow view of privilege laws, not only for reporters, but for other professions such as doctors and ministers.

"My general feeling is privilege should be as narrow as we can get by with," Lawson said Wednesday. "It is denying the tribunal (court) information with which to make a decision."

Lawson did not give any specific recommendations on Kentucky's law, which prohibits a newspaper, radio or television reporter from being compelled to disclose the source of information used in his newspaper or by his station.

Lawson said that in the current situation involving New York Times reporter Myron Farber, who has refused to turn over information relating to a murder trial in New Jersey, "Nobody questions the merit of the claims by the reporter."

State Ag Agents Meeting Begins At Barkley Park

The annual meeting of Kentucky agricultural agents begins today and will extend through Saturday at Lake Barkley State Resort Park.

The Kentucky Association of County Agricultural Agent's program starts at 7 p.m. today, according to Levi Oliver of Princeton, a member of the Pennyrile Agricultural Agents group which is hosting the affair. The opening session will be in the Barkley Lodge meeting room for officers, directors and committee chairmen. That session will continue on Friday morning.

A noon luncheon Friday in the main dining room will feature comments from U.S. Sen. Walter D. Huddleston (D-Ky.). The afternoon will be devoted to professional improvement and tours. The annual banquet is scheduled for Friday evening in the convention center.

The annual awards banquet will be held in the main dining room on Saturday morning with the annual business meeting following at 9:30 a.m. More than 150 agents and their wives are expected to attend.

PRESENT BUILDING of the Cherry Corner Baptist Church located just off Highway 121 South, New Concord Road, where the centennial celebration of the church will be held on Sunday, Oct. 1.

Greene To Speak At Phi Delta Kappa Meet

Ron Greene, the new head basketball coach at Murray State University, will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the campus chapter of Phi Delta Kappa at 6:30 p.m. Monday in Winslow Cafeteria.

His presentation is entitled "Opportunities for the Student Athlete."

Greene, a former player himself at Murray State, was the coach of the Mississippi State University team during 1977-78 that rose from last to second in the Southeastern Conference. His success in his first year at the helm of the Bulldogs earned him Associated Press "Coach of the Year" honors in the SEC.

A native of Terre Haute, Ind., Greene developed a national reputation for success in the coaching ranks with his work at the University of New Orleans, where he served eight years and led teams to national rankings five times, including a No. 1 rating in the final AP college poll of 1973-74.

He also served as head coach two years at Loyola of New Orleans.

His record for his 11 years as a head coach is an impressive 189-98, a .658 percentage. His teams have averaged better than 17 wins a season.

A 6-3 guard in his playing days at Murray State, Greene was a starter for three seasons (1959-62). He averaged 11.6 points a game for his career and 14.8 his senior season.

Phi Delta Kappa is a national organization for graduate students and professionals in education with emphasis on research, service, and leadership. The chapter at Murray State was established in June, 1969. Headed by Dr. S. M. Matarazzo as chairman, it now has approximately 175 members from throughout the area.

Reservations to attend the dinner meeting may be made by calling (502) 762-6965 at Murray State.

Democratic Party head, and Charles Pryor, who served as state commissioner of finance.

"Indictments alone are not a measurement of whether anyone has done anything wrong," he commented. "I'm sure that (state auditor) George Atkins would be one of the first to let everybody in Kentucky know that an indictment doesn't measure guilt because (Taylor) the man heading up his campaign for governor would be considered guilty."

Carroll said he has full confidence that "if any mistakes have been made by Hunt, they were mistakes of judgment and not mistakes which were intended to violate any law."

The governor said he has met with Hunt many times since he resigned and "we have discussed the probes generally but haven't gotten into specifics."

mainly by widening the tax brackets, thus allowing more income to be taxed at lower rates. It also would replace the current $35-per-person credit and the $750-per-person exemption with a $1,000 exemption per person.

The bracket-widening process would increase the current standard deduction from $2,200 to $2,300 for single persons and from $3,200 to $3,400 for couples. Unmarried heads of household, who generally are widows or divorced women with children, would get a $3,000 standard deduction.

Working families with incomes under $11,000 would qualify for the expanded earned-income credit in the bill. The maximum tax credit for qualifying families, some of which could receive money at tax time rather than having to pay, would be increased from the current $400 to $600.

The committee bill would allow different treatment of capital gains realized from the sale of a person's principal home. But this provision would not be as generous to most as the $100,000 once-a-lifetime exclusion voted by the House.

Under the Finance Committee plan, the profit from the first $50,000 of sales price would be tax-free. When the selling price is above $50,000, the tax-free portion would be determined by dividing $50,000 by the sales price and multiplying by the profit.

Capital gains, the profits from sales of assets owned for a year or longer, include stocks and real estate.

Ill., senior; and Leroy Thompson, a junior from Paducah.

In addition to assisting Gillespie with the instructional phase of the program, the student teachers also will rehearse the youngsters and conduct portions of two major concerts to be given during the school year. The first is scheduled for December 3, and the second on April 29 during the spring, 1979 semester.

Student teachers receive compensation for teaching 5 to 6 hours each week and performing regularly in quartets which present programs in area schools.

Vacancies exist for elementary or secondary students for the fall semester, Gillespie said, adding that October 4 is the final day for a youngster to be enrolled.

Additional information about the program may be obtained by writing or calling the Director, String Project, Department of Music, Murray State University, Murray, KY 42071. The telephone number is (Area Code 502) 762-4288.
